The Week in the Legislature

By J. S. Cowper

Now we know the worst—or do we? Last Friday, Hon. Russell Love, brought down his Budget as Provincial Treasurer. He estimates an income for the ensuing fiscal year of $15,831,744.25 with expenditures of $15,302,000.04. If it wasn't for the $729,553.57 required in addition for sinking fund requirements on provincial debts, it would be a balanced budget. Alas! despite an increase in the gasoline tax from 6 cents to 7 cents a gallon, it will still be $699,479.36 short of requirements. That means the province will have to borrow that amount in order to keep on paying interest on its present borrowings.

Old age pensions call for $68,000 increase and school grants for $60,000 increase. An item of $150,000 for election expenses denotes a coming general election—probably in mid-June. The province has settled for $28,000 the judgement which was obtained by Mr. Powlett of Calgary for mental injuries to his son in a "hazing" ordeal as part of his higher university education. In his speech the Provincial Treasurer held out hopes of Dominion aid for refunding the $131,000,000 debt of the province.

More light has been shed on the coming of Major C. H. Douglas as a result of Liberal efforts to table the correspondence between Premier Reid and Major Douglas. From this it appears that the Social Credit inventor is to get $9,000 instead of $5,000 as at first announced, and assurances of radio and press assistance. He cannot arrive before mid-May and stipulates for his fee in advance. The House has invited Mr. Aberhart to expound the Aberhart plan, though the speaker of the legislature took the platform in Edmonton a few nights ago to denounce the Aberhart plan as unworkable and mischievous.

If Major Douglas cannot arrive till mid-May he and his plan cannot well be factors in a mid-June election. One of those useful questions in the public interest that may mean dollars in the pockets of many people was asked in the Legislature by H. J. Montgomery, Liberal member for Wetaskiwin. He wanted to know the names and addresses of all those who had received gasoline and fuel tax refunds since January 1st, 1934, "in cases where the application for such refund was not made within six months of the date of purchase".

Under the law of Alberta, all such refunds must be applied for within six months from the date of purchase. Judge of the surprise when the Government filed a list of persons who had during 1933 and 1934 received refunds totalling $8,403.15 contrary to the provisions of the Act. "What's the sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander". Favoritism isn't defensible. As the government refunded $8,403.15 to applicants who were outlived by time, there's no reason why every other person shouldn't apply and have their overdue gasoline and fuel refund sent to them—or know the reason why.

Popular Couple Feted

On Saturday evening, March 9th, the Alma Mater Merry-makers club held a surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Fischer in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Fischer.

The first part of the evening was spent in playing bridge and whist, prizes for highest score going to Miss Jean Thompson and Mr. Ted Orton. Mr. Harry Riley in his usual capable manner acted as toastmaster and with a few well chosen words presented the guests of honor with a basket of lovely gifts from the club members. A delightful supper was served by Mrs. Fischer. Mr. and Mrs. Orton, Miss Orril Fischer and Miss Mary Thurston. The evening ended up with "For they are Jolly Good Fellows" and "Auld Lang Syne" and the best wishes from all present.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Fischer, Mr. and Mrs. George Fischer, Miss Jean Thompson, Miss Molly Burton, Miss Sarah Kirkpatrick, Miss Kathleen Knowles, Miss Orril Fischer, Miss Phyllis Thurston, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Orton, Miss Mary Thurston, Messrs. Joe Burton, Harry Riley, Harry Carter, Roy Burton, Chris Burton, Edwin Elliott, Leslie Elliott, Bert Nicholl, Geo. Peet, Dennis Barber, Clarence Barber, Ted Thurston and Len Thurston.

What Price Glory

What a chaos of lectures and speeches; What a tumult and stir 'tis today. As the poll day we slowly approach. With the "finis" for our U.F.A. For so long our present day government,

We have thought to be the very best, Though they scorned the plea of the "toller". And in soft padded chairs took a rest. They promised to better our system, If only in them we would trust; Of course that is always the slogan. Wherever the public they buy. But when they attacked the Social Credit, And the man whom is bringing it near, They strangled the last faith we cherished. In the leaders of old U.F.A.

They began with deeming it useless; It won't last for five and one week! They thought it would put Alberta fruitless. Yes, even hinted Mr. Aberhart must be a freak. They attacked his spotless religion (Apparently they have none of their own); They slandered his work and his person; They whipped him with thistle and thorn. But alas! It shows us so fully What men we have kept in the seat As cold-blooded merciless rulers They almost have R. B. Bennett beat.

But now as Social Credit Has put all Alberta on end, And the U.F.A. finds itself stalled, Oh, sure they get busy then. The Social Credit they welcome And its basic dividend. They are all set on its outcome, No longer straddling the wire fence! They have fooled the people a long time, But never, never again. They have proved themselves fickle and useless, In the years they were given to reign. There is a man who is truthfully struggling To help every needy and down, But for him we would have been still hopeless, So let us let him have the crown. He does not seek glory nor glamour; He merely does what he owes. As a Christian to his Redeemer, To help down-trodden children in gloom. So let us do our share all together; Social Credit got a wonderful start; Let us all join hands and gather Around our leader, William Aberhart!

—Alf. Johnson, Irma, Alberta.

A paper by Mrs. Hudson on good sports was much appreciated.

A raffle put on by Mrs. Meyers was the highlight of the afternoon. Mrs. Lambert kindly obliged with a song.

Mrs. L. M. New's gramophone rendering of the song "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" was an item to be long remembered.

Current events by members and the closing song, "God Bless Our Native Land", a most delicious lunch and a hearty vote of thanks to the hostess brought a pleasant afternoon to a close. Visitors present were Mrs. Wm. Prior and Miss Annie Ford.

TO DEVELOP A NATION'S RESOURCES

In 1842, following the union of Upper and Lower Canada, when the Bank opened a branch at Toronto to succeed the agency there, and established offices in nine other cities of Upper Canada, the Honorable Peter McGill, then president of the Bank, explained why the directors had entered upon a policy of establishing branches or agencies in the west: "The Legislature having conferred on the Bank important privileges, and authorized the creation and employment of a large capital, the Board, instead of concentrating it all in the large cities, felt it to be their duty gradually to extend throughout the province the benefits derivable from the use of it by the establishment of branches and agencies at such points and in such localities as appeared to them best calculated to encourage and assist the agriculture and commerce of the country, to develop its resources, and to promote the increase of its exportable productions..."

Even before the union of Upper and Lower Canada, the Bank sought constantly to encourage those factors in trade which would contribute effectively to the up-building of the country—a purpose which is as strong today as ever.

The Brighter Side

For the past five years the people of Canada in common with those of other countries have been looking at the dark side of things, and during these years the picture at which they have been looking has become progressively darker and more gloomy. In fact, following the stock market crash in the late months of 1929, people generally did not seek to find any rays of light, they became more and more fearful, and preferred to dwell upon every unfavorable factor in the situation and to close their eyes and refuse to see anything that could be regarded as hopeful.

This state of mind spread throughout the whole country and, unfortunately for Western Canada, it was accentuated by reason of the advent of a cycle of abnormally dry years, accompanied by other climatic conditions, with their aftermath of pests and other drawbacks entirely beyond the control of man, and all discouraging and destructive of confidence on the part of people so grievously afflicted.

Under the circumstances the amazing thing is that people, taken on the whole, have displayed such wonderful fortitude, so much courage and such fine patience.

Within recent months the clouds of depression have been thinning, conditions have been slowly improving, and the time has come when, we think, the people of Canada may well, to their own advantage and further encouragement, take a look at some of the brighter things in our national life for which they have deep reason for thankfulness in comparison with the lot of other peoples and nations.

Unlike quite a few nations, Canada has maintained its national honor, has not repudiated but has met its national obligations. As a result, Canada stands higher than ever in the estimation of the world. It is a great asset that has not decreased in value but has been substantially increased, and that increased value will stand this Dominion in good stead in the years that lie ahead.

The general business situation in Canada is improving. In view of the economic depths to which the whole world had sunk, this improvement will naturally be slow at first, but it is gathering momentum and volume. The trade of Canada, both import and export, and internal as well, is increasing; the volume of business is becoming larger; railway revenues are rising; national revenues are substantially larger and are increasing, all of which means more employment in the not distant future, and especially so if action is taken to remove or materially lessen the many restrictions now imposed on trade.

Another bright side to the Canadian picture is to be found in the fact that, despite all the difficulties and problems, worries and sufferings of people, Canada has been remarkably free of riots and other forms of defiance of the law which have characterized other lands and resulted in open strife and bloodshed. The Canadian people have kept their heads, and as a result they are winning through, just as the people of Britain are winning through.

Considering the past, the present and the future, there is another and very large and important spot of brightness, leading to hope and confidence for the future, in the fact that almost alone among the nations of the world Canada has been free and is free of the one great burden which rests with crushing force upon the world to-day. That is the burden of armaments—the enormous cost of warlike preparations. While other nations are paying annual tribute reckoned in hundreds of millions, even billions of dollars, to the great war god Mars, the Canadian people are not called upon to do so.

A couple of small destroyers, one on either seacoast, and a handful of militia which is merely a reserve to the established police forces of the country to use at it and when necessary in the maintenance of peace within our own borders, but in no sense an army maintained for offense against any nation,—that is all. With no great battleships, no standing army, no great line of fortifications, Canada lives at peace with the world, the friend of every nation, having no quarrel with any.

If this picture were otherwise, if the Canadian people were taxed to the limit, as other peoples are, to provide the god of war with the machinery and equipment of wholesale human destruction, then Canada might have cause to fear for the future. Fortunately, that fear does not exist.

Given a return to more normal and therefore favorable climatic conditions throughout Western Canada, with a removal of the artificial restrictions imposed upon the commercial transactions and business life of the country,—both of which conditions are not only possible but probable and ones we have every reason to expect,—and free from the entanglements of war-affrighted nations, the Canadian people without any undue optimism may well turn their eyes away from the dark picture of the past five years, and find renewed confidence and happiness in the brighter, better days now dawning.

Magic Of Science

Electric Lung Restores Speech To Persons Without Voice

An electric "lung" and a pair of magnetic hand cuffs, both new, have come out of the scientific magic box of the Bell laboratories.

They were shown at a meeting of the University of Michigan City of New York by Dr. Sergius P. Grace, vice-president of the laboratories.

The lung substitutes electric current for air to make vocal sounds in the artificial larynx, which the laboratories invented to restore speech to about 1,000 persons in the United States who have lost their vocal cords.

The new instrument is placed in the mouth, much like a pipe. It pours into the mouth a pure tone which becomes intelligible speech merely by movement of mouth, lips and tongue in ordinary conversational manner. The voiceless person uses a pocket battery little bigger than a deck of cards. He puts his "pipe" in his mouth. He presses a button and the sound continues as long as he holds this switch closed.

The magnetic hand cuffs demonstrate the super-magnetic power of a new alloy which possesses 20 times the attraction of pure iron. With a cuff on each wrist, or held on each hand, the chain between is joined by placing together two flat pieces of the new metal.

The most powerful man cannot pull these plates apart.

WHY HIS HEADACHES CEASED

Wife Put Kruschen In His Coffee

He could not understand why the headaches he had been subject to suddenly ceased. His wife told him and he at once sat down and wrote the following letter:—

"I am 62 years of age, and ever since I was a boy of 15 years, I was subject to very bad headaches. But two years ago the headaches stopped—for what reason I did not know. I was surprised when one day my wife told me I had been using Kruschen Salts in my coffee for over two years. I am still using them, as I know of nothing finer for the system."—J. T. Headaches can nearly always be traced to a disordered stomach, and to the unsuspected retention in the system of stagnating waste material which poisons the blood. Remove these poisons—prevent them forming again—and you'll never have to worry any more. And that is just how Kruschen Salts brings swift and lasting relief from headaches. Kruschen Salts aid Nature to cleanse your body completely of all clogging waste matter.

Larks Damage Wheat

Farmers In England Have Started War On Songsters

Even if Shelley wrote an ode about it and Schubert was inspired by it to compose a beautiful melody, the lark is just a bird that damages wheat and other crops. So declare the farmers in the vicinity of Norfolk, England, and they have started a war on the songsters. The Norfolk Agricultural Committee has excluded the bird from the new order under the Wild Birds Protection Act. Anyone therefore may shoot it and have lark pie. "The skylark is a nice bird, but we can't live by listening to its music," said George Hewitt, an agricultural leader. The larks are said to invade England in flocks from Germany and Russia.

Midnight Gold Rush

Discovery Of Free Gold At Lake Athabasca Causes Excitement

Discovery of free gold in the Beaverledge field on Lake Athabasca, has led to wild excitement in the area, says a special radio dispatch from Fort Chipewyan to the Edmonton Journal. Word of the discovery caused a wild midnight gold rush which left Beaverledge camp deserted half an hour after word of the find reached it.

The find was made by a St. Joseph's Point trapper, who brought in samples of rich ore and, on his return journey, discovered he was being followed through the darkness by 17 men anxious to stake near his find. The trapper, pretending he was lost, managed to throw his pursuers off the trail, then hurried to stake his claims.

Diamond drill cores from Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company claims at Beaverledge are reported to have shown rich deposits of gold lie 30 feet below the surface.

Township That Is Unique

Adamsfield, Australia, Isolated Although Only 24 Miles From Railroad

There has been discovered to the world a township in Tasmania, Australia, which is unique, at any rate, in the southern hemisphere.

It has no hotel, there is no church, no weddings have been held there, there is no clergyman, and the town is under the control of a vigilance committee.

The township is that of Adamsfield, less than 70 miles as the crow flies from Hobart, and only 24 miles from a railroad. From the railroad, however, the only means of communication is by horse.

Some of the residents have not "been out end"—that is, made the journey out to civilization—for years, and it is possible for the stray visitor who finds his way in to guess the year in which the womenfolk last did so, by the fashions they are following.

The vigilance committee is a real power and has come into being because of the rare visits of a policeman on a tour of inspection. The committee finds in the main that public opinion is the most effective weapon it wields.

Recently an area of agricultural land was taken up 15 miles "in" from Adamsfield, and every item of supplies had to be taken in on men's shoulders.

Proceeds Of World Tour Of Doll House To Be Donated To Hospitals For Sick Children

Colleen Moore's doll house—a 14-foot fairy castle with 11 rooms—will arrive in New York April 1 for its world premiere.

The architectural toy, built at a cost of $435,000, will be taken on a world tour and the proceeds from exhibitions will be donated to hospitals for crippled children.

Built in scale of an inch to the foot, the doll's house contains these marvels:

A gold cathedral organ, 15 inches high, which plays music.

A feather nightingale operated by electricity.

Light bulbs the size of wheat grains.

A robot fairy princess who sings, answers questions and dances in a garden grove.

A table the size of a baby's thumb nail.

Colleen Moore said the doll's house was one of her childhood dreams.

Nationalistic Policy

Sir Josiah Stamp Believes U.S. Policy Does Not Fit Needs

Sir Josiah Stamp, famed economist; in a speech before the American Chamber of Commerce said the United States "is pursuing a highly centralized nationalistic policy which is ill-fitted to the needs of closely knitted world trade improvement."

"The NRA codes," he said, "have not paid very great attention to international factors and the uncertain condition in America has been brought about by codes. The piecemeal treatment of the problem, nation by nation, is wrong. It is unnatural for trade to be balanced between two nations. It is more important that trade with all countries be treated as a whole."

Sir Josiah stressed the importance of currency stabilization and said, "if it was known the United States were going to devalue another 10 per cent., it would help matters greatly."

Starvation The Cure

When People Do Not Have Money To Buy Rich Foods Then Health Is Improved

In days of depression, general health is better than in days of opulence and fine living, several doctors told the House of Commons during a health debate. Dr. J. P. And it was true, Dr. Howden added, that "many people dig their graves with their teeth."

SYNOPSIS

"You've fallen heir to a half-share in plenty of trouble," the lawyer told Gerald Keene. "The Broken Spur has been systematically looting the ranch, and old Joe Carr, your partner, is drinking himself into ruin."

Dad Kane, desert rat and luckless prospector till now returns to tell Dustin and Spike Goddard, who had grumbled him, of his discovery of a rich gold mine, and shows samples of the ore.

Dustin unexpectedly comes along while Stone and Edith are riding fence, and seeing them, stops and talks to Edith. He mentions their dispute could be settled by marrying him, and Edith refuses his proposal with remarks that make Dustin furious. He insults Stone, who promptly throws him into a pool of water.

Stone tells Crewe, law foreman, about his meeting with Dustin. Stone and Crewe go to Seco to send a telegram to Gerald Keene. While at Seco an attempt is made to kill Stone, who proves more than a match for his enemies.

Dustin learns that Gerald Keene has been sent for, and that Dustin Stone has seen the Broken Spur men ruttling Carr's cattle. He sets out with Dad Kane to learn the location of his gold discovery. Dad Kane shows Dustin the mine.

They go back to camp, and Dustin shoots Kane. He fixes the bullet on Peyotl Gregg, a drug addict, who, stupefied by the narcotic he had taken, did not know whether he was guilty or not. They bury Kane and then return to the Broken Spur ranch. Meanwhile at the Hour Glass, Carr, Crewe and Stone speculate as to the meaning of entries in the notebook belonging to Dane Kane that Stone had found. Stone thinks of a possible solution, and, accompanied by Edith Carr, rides out to Red Water to test out his theory, which proves correct, and they find the rich gold deposit mentioned in the prospector's notebook. As they return to the ranch, they meet Dustin leaving the house, who, purposely, but unsuccessfully tries to ride down Stone.

(Now Go On With The Story)

"Wait a bit. I've got a better plan than that. . . . Dustin's grin was the grin of a dog who sees the meat that he intends to seize. 'Wait! If I had sprung that on Joe Carr, he'd simply wait till this Gerald Keene, his partner, turns up. Young Keene might have the money. If he has, then old Carr would get out of my clutches. See? Kane would sure help Carr meet that note. He'd sure to see him at once. Not a word more than that."

Spike went and ten minutes later Peyotl dropped his hat at the door and came shambling into the room. Dustin looked up from some pretended work at the desk.

"It's a good thing for you, Peyotl, that you came at once," he said. "I'm sorry for you, but I don't see how I can help you. . . . Remember old Dad Kane, Peyotl?"

"For heaven's sake lay off that Mist Sam. . . . The man's arm flung up to guard before his eyes and he shivered at though with an agree. 'I ain't slept a wink since I came back. . . . I'd never get sleep if it wasn't for . . . fer . . . you know what. . . . He tugged a red-and-green cigarette packet from his pocket.

Dustin snatched it from him, tore out four cigarettes and gave them to him; and thrust the package into his desk drawer.

"You damned fool. I've told you a dozen times not to get any of these things except what I give you. I give you your full allowance. Just suppose you take too many of these and talk too much. You know what'll happen. You'll be hung as high as Haman."

Peyotl looked dazed. He had looked for a coin and perhaps an errand and he found a threat that he only half understood. He could not guess what was coming, but he knew that he was on the verge of being violently ill. His stomach was queasy. Man, born of woman, cannot smoke unlimited peyotl cigarettes to kill the memory of a murder that he never committed and still carry himself like a free man. Peyotl squirmed and Dustin gladly noted it.

"I wish I could help you, Peyotl," he said. "But I don't see how I can."

"What's the matter, boss? What's come up?"

"You know damned well what you did. The question is how're you going to keep the world from knowing what you did, too? I'll hate to see you at the end of a rope, Peyotl. You remember Wills?"

Peyotl gulped audibly and sat down. He remembered Wills very well. Caught while in the very act of changing brands on two horses of the Cross Keys stock, Wills had been given two hours to confess his crime. The time had been wholly insufficient and Wills had gone to some questionable place with a lariat about his neck. Peyotl remembered seeing the long body swinging in the wind under a big live oak while a yellow-hammer and two woodpeckers hammered cheerfully above him. He had never forgotten it and Dustin knew it.

"You see, Peyotl, it's this way. When you killed old man Kane, we thought he was just an old desert rat who had no friends. It seems we were wrong. He had some friends back East. He had a nephew. His name is Gerald Kane or Keene or something like that. Anyhow old man Kane must have written him that he had found a gold mine. This nephew telegraphed that he will be out here to-morrow night to look up his uncle. You know what that means. Every one knows that I've been grub-staking old man Kane. They'll come to me first of all. If they ask me any questions, Peyotl, you can see that I've got to tell 'em the truth. I'll willin' to help you all I can, Peyotl, but not to the extent of perjury. Of course I know just about how it was. . . . You smoked that damned stuff that I've told you to leave alone. You had a bad dream and you got into a doped row with old man Kane and killed him. . . ."

Peyotl shuddered. "Mexico ain't so far away," he muttered. "They'd get you there. They extradite for murder in Mexico. I guess you've got to pay the bill, Peyotl. . . . If this man Gerald Kane turns up. . . ."

He had suggested the answer even to a drug-deadened brain.

Would Have Cheque Framed

Alberta Farmer Receives Nineteen Cents in Payment For Cow

One farmer in Alberta has an idea of how to teach his children what hard times mean. He is a neighbor of G. G. Coote, United Farmer member for Macleod. Mr. Coote told about him in the House of Commons.

The farmer sent a cow to the Calgary market and after paying all charges was told his net return would be 19 cents. The agent who sold the cow received 75 cents commission. The charge for the hay the cow ate at the market was 35 cents. He was asked to call in for his money as the amount was too small to pay by cheque, but the farmer wanted a cheque.

He said he proposed to have it framed so if at some time in the future his son complained of poor prices he could show him what really low prices were.

Countess Of Bessborough Has Felt Very Much At Home

Attending the annual meeting of the Local Council of Women in Ottawa, the Countess of Bessborough spoke briefly to the officers and members and expressed her appreciation at being invited to the meeting. She said she had not really realized until she entered the room, that it would be the last meeting of the Local Council which she would attend.

"I have been so happy in Ottawa, you have received us so warmly and made us feel so much at home here that I do not like the idea of leaving," she said. She explained that while they would not be leaving Canada for a number of months, still when she was back in England, she would often send her thoughts back across the Atlantic ocean and wish happiness to all.

Foot And Mouth Disease

Canada And South Africa Only Countries Free From This Blight

Canada and the Union of South Africa were said to be the only countries free from the blight of foot and mouth disease, during an agricultural debate in the British House of Commons.

Captain Frank Hellgers, Conservative, who farms more than 1,000 acres in west Suffolk, said is a member of the Friesian Cattle Society, said the society had searched the world over for countries free from the disease, and Canada and South Africa were practically the only ones they had found.

All other countries were spending money in research on the disease and were failing to find a remedy, he added.

Long hair was worn by Buffalo Bill and the other Indian fighters as a matter of honor. They believed that their Indian captor was entitled to a respectable scalplock if he captured them. 2088.

McMurray Tar Sands

Denver Firm To Erect Separating Plant In Alberta

Hon. Thomas G. Murphy, minister of the interior, revealed that the government had given permission to Denver, Colo., financial interests to erect in Alberta plants for separating bitumen from McMurray sands and for refining the bitumen to obtain gasoline, fuel oil and asphalt products.

The permission, Mr. Murphy said, was an extension of a former agreement made with the Denver interests represented by Max Ball which had conducted a "pilot" plant in Toronto for preliminary experiments.

The minister added he understood the firm had proceeded with construction in Alberta of a separation plant as soon as weather conditions permitted work and that the separation plant would be followed by a refinery. All the works, he believed, would cost about $250,000.

Mr. Murphy said the government will not spend any money on the scheme but that the company will be required to pay royalties for the privileges of working the sands.

The Roots of the Wheat Plant

The roots of the wheat plant usually penetrate into the soil for a depth of 5 to 6 feet with a great mass of rooting material. This marvellous root system completely exhausts all the moisture that the soil will give up for a depth of 5 or 6 feet by harvest time. The roots transform into wheat all the moisture and plant food that is available. It takes between 30 and 60 tons of water to make each bushel of wheat, or from 1,000 to 2,000 pounds of water for each pound of wheat. The yield is usually in proportion to the amount of moisture that falls and can be conserved in the soil. The University of Saskatchewan has dug up a wheat plant with all its roots. The Seale Grain Company has made a nice photograph of this plant and roots. One will be sent free to any person asking for it. Address: Research Department, Seale Grain Company, Winnipeg.
